ENGLISH MAJOR

Requirements

For a 30-credit major in English, students complete the following:

Code	Title	Credits
Select five co	ourses in English literature, including:	15
No more t	han one 1000-level literature course
At least or	ne 3000-level literature course
At least tw	vo courses on literature before 1800 <sup>1</sup>
At least or	ne course on literature after 1800 <sup>1</sup>
A 5-course English Concentration selected from the list below		15
Total Credits		30

The historical period of a course is listed in the catalog using the attributes E_BF (before 1800) and E_AF (after 1800).

There are many different ways to pursue an English major, based on students' interests and career goals.

- All students entering Fairfield University in Fall 2019 or later must complete ENGL 1001. All of the English major requirements are in addition to ENGL 1001.
- All English majors must complete the department core curriculum of five English literature classes. The five English literature courses may include the one 1000-level literature course required by the core curriculum.
- All English majors must complete a concentration of five additional courses. Students select the concentration in consultation with their department academic advisor.

After completing ENGL 1001, most majors begin the program by taking a 1000-level literature class that also counts as their final English core course. With instructor permission, they may take a 2000-level literature course instead of the 1000-level.

Concentrations

All English majors must select one of the Department's five concentrations. The coursework is in addition to the university core and department core courses. The concentrations are:

- Literature
- · Creative Writing
- English Studies
- Professional Writing
- Teacher Education

All concentrations include at least one English Writing course (not including Internship or Independent Study) and a capstone experience. Students are allowed to complete more than one concentration; the second concentration will be listed as an academic minor on a student's transcript for graduation.

Concentration in Literature

The Literature concentration is designed for students interested in a challenging and stimulating study of literature and culture past and present. It offers a rich reading experience in important and influential works of fiction, poetry, drama, film and non-fiction as well as training in persuasive writing and theoretical approaches to the interpretation of art and culture. Students learn to interpret texts within the social and historical contexts of their production and reception, to connect the past vividly to the present, and to write persuasively. In doing so, they gain and contribute to knowledge of the major ideas that have shaped our world, our communities, and our selves. Literature Concentration alums have secured employment in a wide-array of dynamic careers including, but not limited to, marketing, biotech, finance, public relations, technology, politics, publishing, teaching, and law.

Concentration in Creative Writing

The Creative Writing concentration seeks to develop writers in various genres, including poetry, fiction, creative nonfiction and drama, as well as writers who wish to express themselves in more than one genre. The concentration is both rigorous and flexible to student needs, by offering a wide variety of classes in various genres and at various levels, and by allowing students to follow their own interests. In addition to preparing students to write creatively, the Concentration also prepares students to go into the field of publishing and editing by offering a sequence of publishing classes. In conjunction with publishing, students may elect to work on our national literary magazine, Dogwood.

Concentration in English Studies

The concentration in English Studies provides students with special interests the opportunity to create a customized program of studies across literary genres, various writing concentrations and literacy studies in consultation with their adviser. Students might put together a coherent package of literature courses of their own choosing, mix and match writing courses in different concentrations, or combine relevant literature and writing course work. All department core requirements must still be met; at least one course must be in writing (other than Internship or Independent Study).

Concentration in Professional Writing

The professional writing concentration is designed for students who want to strengthen their writing and speaking skills as preparation for a wide variety of careers, including those in business, the non-profit sector, legal studies, government, public relations, fundraising, politics, or education. The Professional Writing Concentration also helps prepare students for graduate study. Courses in this concentration focus on using writing, rhetoric, and communication to make information accessible, usable, relevant, and persuasive to a variety of audiences. Students develop advanced writing/composing skills using a wide variety of media, for a wide variety of disciplines and digital environments. Internships are available to students in the professional writing concentration, including placements in corporate communication, grant writing, advertising, marketing, technical writing, and the mass media.

Concentration in Teacher Education

This concentration is designed both for students who plan to enroll in the 5-Year BA/MA program in teacher education at Fairfield University and for students who seek other teaching positions, such as a Fulbright English Teaching Assistant or a Teach for America Fellow. It prepares students with content knowledge needed for the Praxis exam, student teaching, and a career in teaching. Qualified students who minor or major in the Teacher Education concentration in the English Department are given preferred admission status in graduate programs in Elementary Education, Secondary Education, and Special Education in the School of Education and Human Development.

As part of their five required courses in literature, students in the Teacher Education concentration should select at least one course on Shakespeare (ENGL1410, 2013, or 2014).
